"For great world athletes, the contest may last only minutes. Then it is over, and they have won or lost. But for Special Olympians, the contest can last a lifetime. The challenge begins again each day. What they win by their courageous efforts is far greater than any game. They are winning life itself and in doing so, they give to others a most precious prize—faith in the unlimited possibilities of the human spirit."

Thank you for your interest, enthusiasm and unselfish efforts on behalf of Special Olympics.
